An Art For Modern Humanity

Looking for contemporary sculpture with the quality of rendering and vision you've seen in the masters? Ever wished the elegance of modern design combined with realism to express subjects of the heart as well as the mind? You'll find new possibilities for American fine art in the bronze and marble sculptures of Barry Woods Johnston.

Johnston works have a unique style – both modern in fresh vitality and classic in refined figurative realism. His designs range from soaring architectural to natural Art Deco, yet he always focuses on humanity in the wide range of subjects he explores – from intimate relationships and classic Shakespeare to the pressures of contemporary life. The invigorating energy of his realistic figures offers a poignant expression of our modern times.

Sculptures by Johnston are featured regularly at exhibitions of the National Academy of Design, the Allied Artists of America, the National Sculpture Society, the National Arts Club and the Salmagundi Club. They have received virtually every important peer award and medal, including the Cassidy Memorial Award, the Leonard J. Meiselman Award (multiple times), the Lindsay Morris Memorial Prize, the Chaim Gross Foundation Award, the National Arts Club Best In Show prize and their President's Award, the Eliot Liskin Award (multiple times) and many others. His works are in important collections and his commissions can be found around the world.
